HOUSEHOLD INSPECTION TEAM, INC. ANNOUNCES NEW INITIATIVE FOR REAL ESTATE AGENTS' & BROKERS' CONTINUING EDUCATION COURSE, "HOME SYSTEM IDENTIFICATION"

CHICAGO, IL – June 07, 2005 – The Learning Center Division of HOUSEHOLD INSPECTION TEAM, INC., announced today a new initiative to market its "Home System Identification" course that is specifically designed for Real Estate agents and brokers. Graduates of the program will receive a three hour Elective Curriculum credit toward the Illinois State continuing education requirements for licensing qualification.

Jeffrey Kaplan, President and CEO of HOUSEHOLD INSPECTION TEAM, INC. said, "Although Real Estate agents and brokers receive extensive and important instruction pertaining to the legal aspects of transactions, plus ethics, fair housing, etc., they receive virtually no education concerning the product they are actually selling - THE HOUSE! Our course addresses this shortfall by explaining roof types, wall compositions, plumbing and electrical systems, windows, heating and cooling, ventilation, basements and other aspects of house composition. Our lecture center is equipped with state-of-the-art working models and cut-away cross-sectional models to enhance the educational experience."

Kaplan added, "We are excited to announce that we have entered into an agreement with Barry Taylor to market this program and our other educational products to the Real Estate industry in Illinois. Barry is an Illinois licensed realtor, who also has extensive business-to-business sales and marketing experience across a broad array of industries both home and abroad. His widely acknowledged expertise will greatly enhance our efforts."

"The course not only achieves the goal of providing practical education for realtors and brokers, but also enables them to give a higher level of service to their clients by making them aware of how houses in which they are interested are put together, their structure, systems, etc. It will show that their agent/broker is knowledgeable beyond what is normally conveyed in the average listing document," said Barry Taylor. He added, "I am certain that at some juncture in the future this type of course will be recognized as 'must-have education' for all realtors before they begin their real estate careers. I look forward to 'evangelizing' the benefits of this course and other innovative programs planned by Jeffrey and his first-class team."

HOUSEHOLD INSPECTION TEAM, INC. (HIT) is a Chicago-based, Illinois-registered company that was founded in 1994 by Jeffrey Kaplan. Since inception, it has experienced exceptional growth and become the largest building inspection company in the Midwest. HIT is also the largest single volume producing office in the USA, averaging in excess of 5000 inspections per annum in the greater Chicago area. HIT has also established operations in Michigan, Indiana and Arizona, with plans to franchise the operation throughout the country, beginning later this year. The Learning Center Division offers realtors and real estate brokers a continuing education Elective Curriculum course, "Home System Identification," and a Core Curriculum course that pertains to "Fair Housing." HIT is in the process of identifying new education products for realtors, brokers and home inspectors. The company is recognized by the Illinois Department of Financial and Professional Regulation (Division of Banks and Real Estate) as an Approved School.

Barry Taylor is a London U.K. born, British ex-pat with nearly three decades of senior business management experience, primarily with major international corporations. Additionally, he practices sales and marketing consultancy for small to mid-size businesses and is an Illinois State licensed Realtor affiliated with Prudential Preferred Properties.
